

Cable retransmission tariffs

Retransmission (incl. direct injection) of audiovisual works by telecommunications operators via cable or other electronic communication networks

1. Standard cable network agreement – only retransmission of audiovisual works in TV programs

- 1.25% of monthly received subscription fee.
- There is no minimum rate.
- The agreement covers only the retransmission of audiovisual works in cable television networks.

2. General Licensing Agreement (GLA)

- The agreement includes both the rights of television organisations that have joined the GLA agreement and the rights to retransmit various types of works (music, visual arts, audiovisual works) contained in the programs of these television organisations.
- The license fee is fixed per one TV program per client per month.

3. SUPER cable (or other electronic communication) network agreement

- Enables telecommunication operators to enter into a licensing agreement with EAÜ at a unified tariff (with a fixed minimum fee), which gives telecommunication operators the opportunity to obtain all rights represented by EAÜ for providing TV services to their customers through their communication networks through a single contract. This agreement covers the retransmission, reproduction and making available to the public of audiovisual works as well as musical works and works of visual art.
- Tariff is negotiated separately with each user, so there is no standard tariff.
