

ESTONIAN
AUTHORS' SOCIETY

TRANSPARENCY REPORT

for 2023

1. Foreword

You are looking at the Transparency Report of the Estonian Authors Society (Eesti Autorite Ühing, EAÜ) for 1 January 2023 to 31 December 2023.

We hope that by informing the public about who we are and what our organisational structure, affiliation and financial data are, we will increase the trust that authors and the holders of their rights, as well as the users of their works, have in us.

The Transparency Report of the EAÜ has been prepared according to the requirements of subsection 791 (6) of the Copyright Act.

The EAÜ was founded on 8 October 1991 on the initiative of sixteen Estonian creative people – Lepo Sumera, Veljo Tormis, Mikk Targo, Priit Aimla, Jaan Räätsa, Henn-Kaarel Hellat, Andres Valkonen, Ando Keskküla, Lauri Lees, Lauri Laubre, Peeter Leinbock, Katrin Leisi, Reet Linna, Vladislav Petšnikov (Reinfeldt), Heiki Pisukes and Jüri Vendelin. The EAÜ considers itself the legal successor of the Estonian Author Protection Association, which was established in 1932 and operated until 1940.

In its activities, the EAÜ follows the principles set out in § 79 of the Copyright Act and exercises the rights of authors and the holders of rights (heirs, music publishers) on the basis of transactions and law in the case of the following categories of works:

- musical works,
- works of visual art,
- choreographic works,
- audiovisual works.

The transaction-based right of representation of the EAÜ arises from the authorisation received from the authors and the holders of rights who are members of the EAÜ and from the Estonian Audiovisual Authors Association and the authorisation (agreements) received from the collective representation organisations of other countries. The list of Estonian authors represented by the EAÜ and the list of foreign countries where the EAÜ has concluded representation agreements with collective representation organisations are available on the EAÜ website.

The mediation of rights to musical works is the largest part of the activities of the EAÜ with 85% of all revenues of the EAÜ, plus the compensation for private copying. This is because music is played simultaneously in many different places and through many different channels (radio, television, concerts, bars and restaurants, hotels, nightclubs, shops, etc.) and not just one, but a huge number of works are used. This is why the area of use of musical works is the widest, requiring the existence of an intermediary or collective representation organisation to facilitate communication between users and authors. In Estonia, the EAÜ is the only organisation that grants licences for the use of musical works and collects royalties for authors and holders of rights.

3. Copyright exercised by the EAÜ

The EAÜ only exercises the economic rights belonging to authors and the holders of rights. On the basis of the authorisation received from its members and other collective representation organisations, the EAÜ grants licences for using works in the following ways:

- public performance of works as live or technically mediated performance (public performance right);
- transmission, direct injection or retransmission of works via radio, television, cable network or satellite or via other technical equipment (the right of transmission, direct injection and retransmission);
- making works available to the public in such a way that persons can access the work from a place and at a time individually chosen by them, also via the Internet (right of making the work available to the public);
- recording works on a sound or video medium, film or other similar medium or device and distribution of the work in such a manner (right of reproduction and synchronisation)..

The EAÜ also has the right to collect remuneration for the use of works in a situation where authors can only exercise their right to remuneration through a collective representation organisation. The EAÜ also has the right to:

- collect remuneration for the private use of an audiovisual work or sound recording of a work;
- collect remuneration for the resale of an original work of art at public auction or through an art gallery or art dealer..

The membership agreement that authors or the holders of rights enter into generally covers all four categories of economic rights mentioned above, i.e. the manner in which the works are used and all works created by the author, and is generally valid worldwide. The authors can restrict these rights to a certain extent: they can decide the categories of economic rights and the territories in which they authorise the EAÜ to represent them. However, the author cannot choose the works in respect of which they authorise the EAÜ to represent them – authors who have become members of the EAÜ waive all of their works to the society for representation.

The authors and holders of rights who have joined the EAÜ do not have to pay a fee for joining or membership. However, the EAÜ is entitled to withhold a commission, which is used to cover the costs incurred by the society and is set annually by the general meeting of the EAÜ.

4. Management structure of the EAÜ

The highest managing body of the EAÜ is the general meeting, which generally meets once a year and in which all members of the society may participate. The general meeting adopts resolutions on all main management matters of the EAÜ which have not been placed within the authority of the management board or audit committee of the society by law or these Articles of Association. For example, the general meeting approves the budget and amendments to the Articles of Association and elects the members of the management board and the audit committee every three years. The general meeting of the EAÜ was held at the Creative Hub on 8 May 2023, where the new members of the management board and the audit committee were elected for the next three years. The meeting also adopted the resolution that a person may be a member of the management board for a maximum of two terms of office.

This was done to ensure that the management board always has new members and never runs out of fresh and innovative ideas.

The management board consists of seven members. Karl-Ander

Reismann (chairman of the management board), Virgo Sillamaa and Jaan Jaago continue on the management board and Kristjan Randalu, Sten Šeripov, Ewert Sundja and representative of Tier Music Publishing OÜ Sandra Perens were elected as new members. The management board held a total of eight meetings in the financial year, including a two-day strategy event in Tallinn.

The everyday work of the society is handled by the EAÜ office, which is managed by CEO Mati Kaalep. The office had 22 employees during the reporting period.

The activities of the EAÜ are supervised by the audit committee, whose members are also elected at the general meeting for a term of three years. The following members of the audit committee were elected at the annual general meeting of 2023: Imre Sooäär (chairman of the committee), Tajo Kadajas and Margo Kõlar. Due to the size of the balance sheet, the activities of the EAÜ are also audited by an independent auditor, Triin Seli. State supervision over the EAÜ as a collective representation organisation is exercised by the Patent Office.

5. Information on refusal to conclude licence agreements

According to the resolution of the management board of the EAÜ of 30 August 2021, the EAÜ has the right to require applicants to make a prepayment, i.e. pay a deposit of up to 100% of the presumed licence fee or demand the provision of a security in the following cases:

1. if the agreement is concluded for the first time with a company whose equity capital is less than the licence fee expected to be payable;
2. if the applicant for a licence or their representative has previously failed to pay the licence fee in a timely manner or in the required amount or has submitted to the EAÜ false information about the circumstances serving as a basis for the licence fee.

If the applicant for a licence is in debt to the EAÜ, the EAÜ may refuse to enter into a licence agreement with the applicant and may refuse to grant the applicant authorisation for use.

On 12 June 2023, the EAÜ amended the terms and conditions of its public performance licences, which clearly ruled out the granting of permission by the EAÜ for the use of the works of the authors represented by the EAÜ in a public meeting (including political events). The respective permission must be obtained directly from the author or the holder of the rights to the musical work (heir, publisher). A public meeting is a meeting, demonstration, rally, picket, procession or other demonstration in a square, park, road, street or other public place.

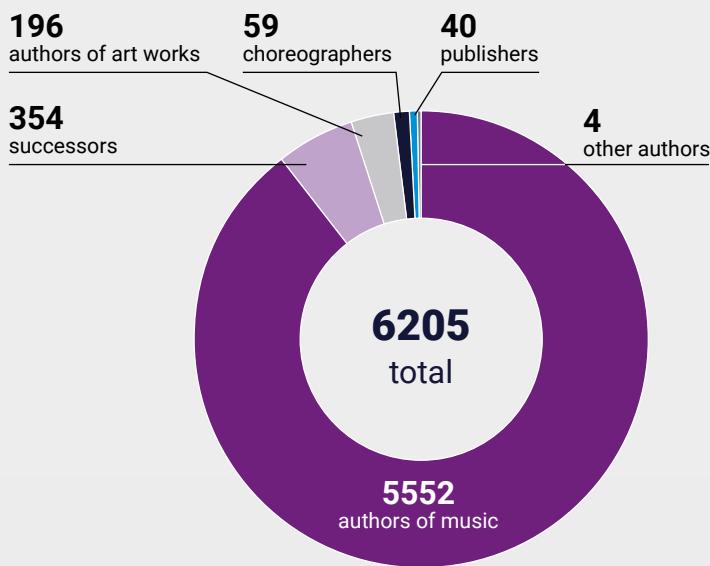

In the current reporting period, the EAÜ did not refuse to conclude any licence agreements. Thus, all users who applied to the EAÜ for permission to use works of authors represented by the EAÜ in the field licensed by the EAÜ and who accepted the licensing rates applied by the EAÜ to the field or type of use in question received the respective permission from the EAÜ.

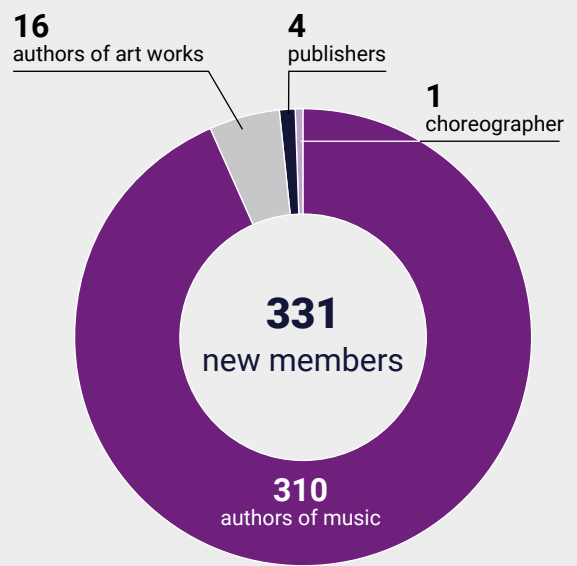

6. Members

331 members joined the EAÜ in 2023, including 310 authors of musical works, 16 authors of works of art, 4 publishers and 1 author of choreographic works. As at 31 December of the financial year, the EAÜ had 6,205 members in total, including 5,552 authors of musical works, 196 authors of works of art, 40 music publishers, 59 authors of choreographic works, 40 music publishers, 59 authors of choreographic works, four other authors and 354 heirs of deceased authors.

7. Report of the CEO on 2023

Dear authors,

Again, more royalties than ever before were received by the EAÜ in 2023. Whilst a year earlier, in 2022, gross revenues exceeded EUR 10 million for the first time, they already exceeded EUR 11 million in 2023 (net amount EUR 10,679,045).

For the first time in its history, the EAÜ is among the world's top 20 societies in terms of per capita income, ranking 19th and having collected EUR 7.07 per Estonian citizen (compared to a global average of EUR 1.52). When the revenues are compared to GDP, the performance of the EAÜ is even better, as it ranks 15th in the world.

In terms of licensing, the EAÜ had an exceptionally busy year. Budget targets were exceeded, more than 3,200 agreements were managed and around 10,000 invoices were issued. 744 new agreements were entered into, but almost the same number of agreements were terminated, due to the closure or restructuring of places using music.

In connection with licensing, several constructive negotiations with contractual partners to extend cooperation also went well. For example, the EAÜ renewed agreements with all private TV service providers and private radio stations and extended its agreement with ERR. In addition, the effective licensing conditions for ships, which had remained unchanged since 2006, were updated.

In the area of licensing developments, the biggest achievement was the creation of the possibility to sign licence agreements digitally on the EAÜ's website. Considering the number of licences and special cases of the EAÜ, this was a much more complex undertaking technically than building an online store.

In terms of public communication, the EAÜ met the targets set in its media plan, with 269 posts on social media (92 posts in 2022) and an increase in followers across all our social media channels (Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn). For the first time, the website of the EAÜ www.eau.org was visited 2,000 times a month on average. Surveys showed that the content of coverage concerning the EAÜ in other media was mostly neutral, with the few negative mentions being of the same order of magnitude as positive ones.

The EAÜ also continued to provide training services. Training was provided by both the CEO and staff of the EAÜ, and the service was offered to authors, users of works as well as students and school pupils.

In the field of international cooperation, the most important innovation in December 2023 was the EAÜ becoming a member of the international umbrella organisation of copyright societies, BIEM (Bureau International de l'Édition Mécanique). In addition, close cooperation with foreign associations and with the online rights partner MINT Digital Services, which licenses the repertoire of the EAÜ on online platforms such as Spotify, YouTube, Snapchat and others, has continued through the umbrella organisation CISAC (Confédération Internationale des Sociétés d'Auteurs et Compositeurs).

In terms of technical developments, the EAÜ also had an extremely busy year:

- updating the author portal (to be completed in the first half of 2024);
- adding the digital signature function to the website for the conclusion of membership agreements as well as agreements necessary for the users of the works;
- updating the design of the repertoire submission page and adding an automatic search function;
- creating the CRD file reading system for the allocation of fees;
- continuous updating of the website with information in both Estonian and English.

In addition, the working processes of the EAÜ were mapped to facilitate future technical developments.

I would like to thank all the authors, users of the works and other partners for placing their trust in the EAÜ and all EAÜ staff for their commitment and contribution.

Mati Kaalep

CEO of the EAÜ

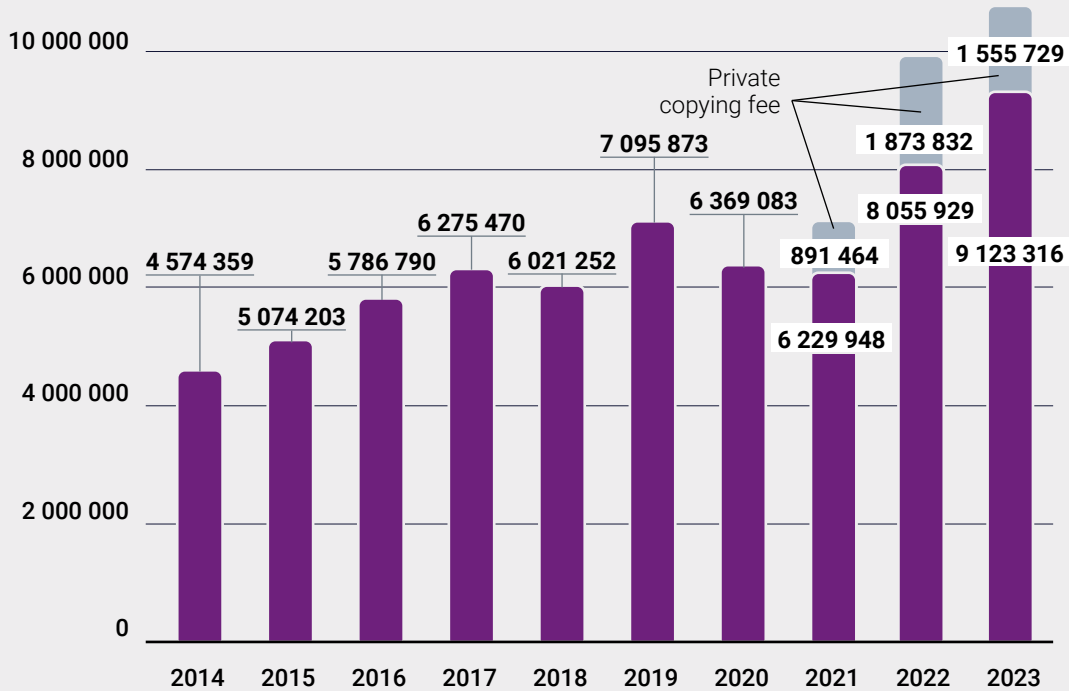

8. Financial information

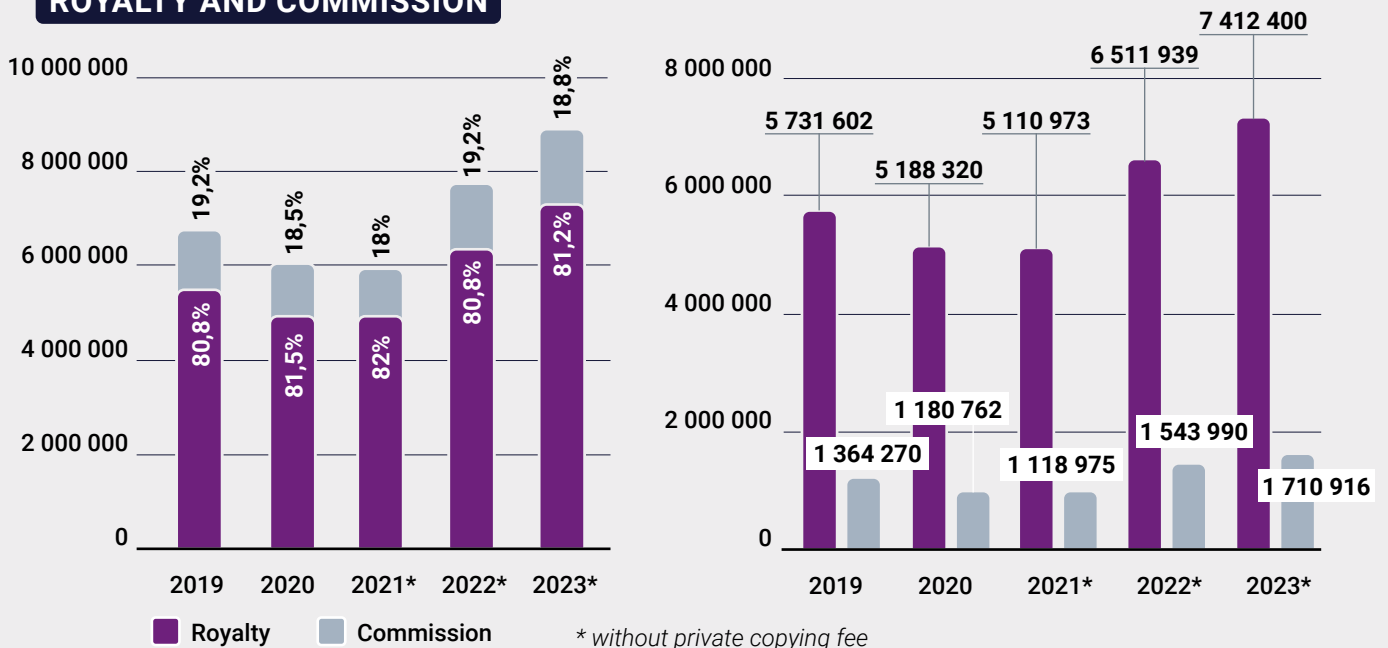

In 2023 the net amount of the licence fees received by the EAÜ was EUR 10,679,045, which included commissions in the amount of EUR 1,710,916 and compensation for private copying in the amount of EUR 1,555,729.

The total amount of royalties paid by the EAÜ in 2023 was EUR 6,802,583 (EUR 6,839,087 in 2022).

In 2023, the EAÜ paid out royalties received by the distribution fund in 2023 and in previous periods as follows:

- EUR 2,324,018 to the authors of musical works who are members of the EAÜ, i.e. EUR 41,175 more than in 2022;
- EUR 842,168 to the authors of audiovisual works who are members of the EAÜ, i.e. EUR 957,090 more than in 2022 (the decrease occurred as a result of the fact that in 2022, the EAÜ paid private copying compensation for the years 2014–2021);
- EUR 842,168 to the authors of works of art who are members of the EAÜ, i.e. EUR 44,762 more than in 2022;
- EUR 3,495,860 to foreign societies, i.e. EUR 834,648 more than in 2022.

9. Collection of remuneration and trends

Royalties were collected in the amount of EUR 9,123,316 in 2023, EUR 8,055,929 in 2022, EUR 6,229,948 in 2021, EUR 6,368,471 in 2020 and EUR 7,094,874 in 2019 (the amounts also include commission).

The royalties collected on concerts in 2023 amounted to EUR 1,008,045, which is more than 1.5 times the amount collected in 2022, when the net amount collected was EUR 604,900. However, EUR 936,525 was collected in 2019, which is why comparing 2023 to the pre-corona year, i.e. 2019, is appropriate. Based on this, it can be said that recovery has been strong and we have regained the pre-corona level in terms of live performances.

The net revenue for background music in 2023 (including revenues from shops, restaurants, casinos, sports and nightclubs) amounted to EUR 729,050. The trend is similar to that for concerts: in terms of revenues, we are back at the level of 2019.

Net revenues for the use of works in television in 2023 amounted to EUR 827,135. The net amounts received from the same area in the previous years were EUR 1,071,456 (in 2022), EUR 545,808 (in 2021), EUR 521,592 (in 2020) and EUR 717,714 (in 2019). The revenues in 2022 were bigger than in other years mainly due to the end of the legal dispute with AS All Media Eesti, which paid the EAÜ the royalties that had been the subject of a dispute since 2019. In December 2023, we signed new five-year licence agreements with all TV broadcasters for the period 2024–2028, with the same basis for calculating the licence fee and the same fee rate. The customer base of telecoms companies, including cable operators, has not changed significantly compared to 2022.

For cable distribution, the net revenue in 2023 was EUR 1.17 million (EUR 1 million in 2022, EUR 1.2 million in 2021, EUR 1.3 million in 2020, EUR 1.2 million in 2019). The increase was due to the fact that in January 2023, we signed an agreement with TV Play Baltics OÜ for works retransmitted on the Home3 SAT platform. This agreement also included the back-payment of the licence fee for 2022.

In the case of radio, net revenues in 2023 were EUR 555,244, i.e. EUR 80,635 more than in 2022, when the EAÜ collected EUR 474,609. We collected EUR 468,236 in 2021, EUR 424,270 the year before and EUR 434,825 in 2019. Four-year licence agreements have been concluded with radio service providers, which are valid from January 2023 until 31 December 2026. The amount of the licence fee increases by 0.1% each calendar year, from 4.6% to 4.9% of radio advertising turnover over four years.

For works of art, the net revenues in 2023 were EUR 165,266. These are revenue recoveries in the field of art. For example, EUR 156,634 was collected in 2022, as the volume of art auctions increased compared to previous years. The net amount of fees collected for the authors of works of art was EUR 97,556 in 2021 and a little over EUR 62,174 in 2020.

ART

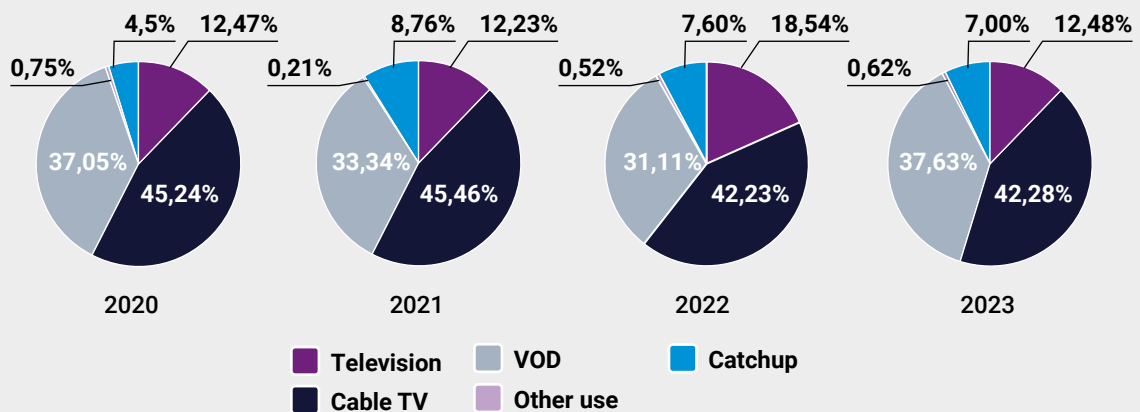

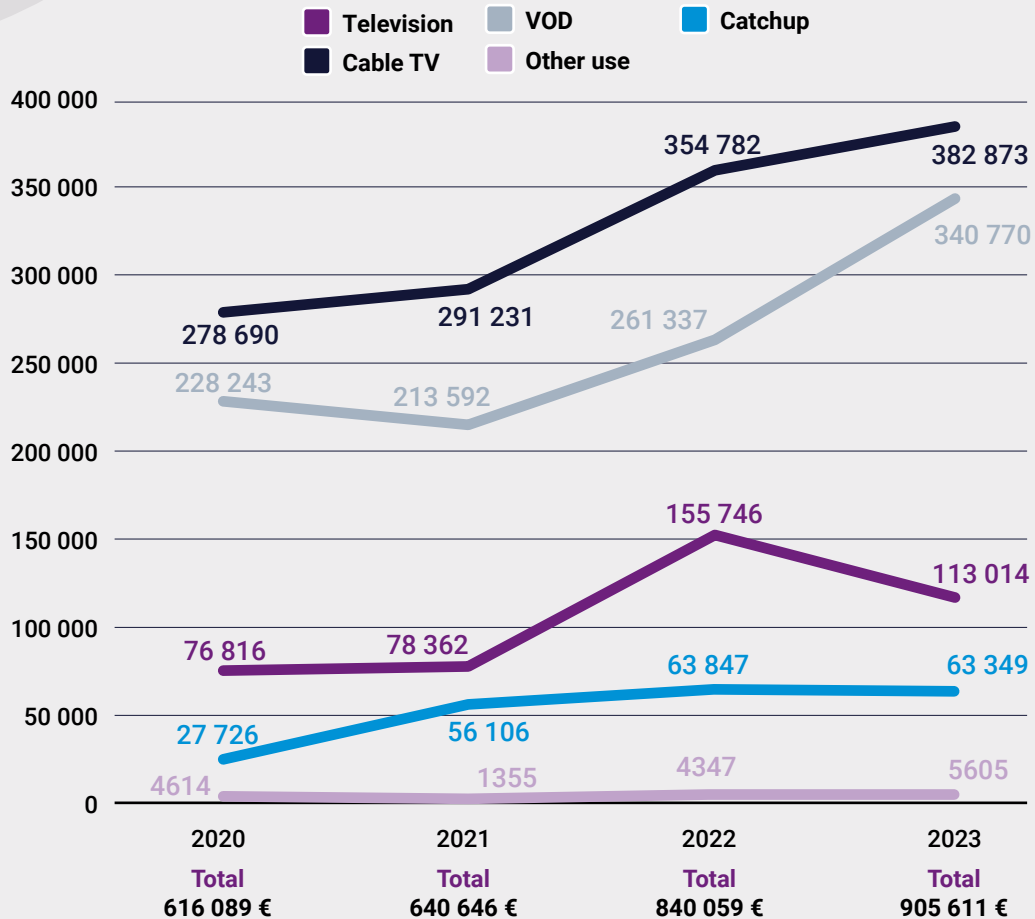

- General reproduction of works of art
- Reproduction of works of art on TV
- Reproduction of works of art on cable TV
- Auctions

Net revenues in the area of audiovisual works increased at a steady pace compared to previous years: from EUR 616,089 in 2020 to EUR 640,646 in 2021 and EUR 840,059 in 2022. The royalties received for authors of audiovisual works in 2023 amounted to EUR 905,611, i.e. a little over EUR 65,000 more than in 2022.

10. Revenues from abroad

Regarding receipts coming from foreign countries, there has been a decrease in 2023 compared to 2022, primarily in the areas of audiovisual and recording, digital, online (SDO) receipts. Due to the reassessment of the SDO accounting principle, there is a significant drop compared to 2021 and 2022, stemming from the fact that the receipts from the contracting party MINT Digital have been accounted for under the overall SDO receipts category since 2022, rather than under the category of fees received from abroad.

11. Expenses

Actual expenses in 2023 were EUR 90,231 less than planned. The total budget expenditure of the EAÜ was EUR 1,322,694, i.e. 12.02% of all revenues, corresponding to the level of Nordic societies. As the objective according to the development plan of the EAÜ is to achieve a 15% commission rate by 2025, 12.02% on all revenues is a good result that exceeds expectations. The commission of the EAÜ – EUR 1,710,917 – comprised 18.75% of all revenues. The calculation of the commission does not include the fee for private copying collected by the EAÜ on behalf of all the organisations it represents.

The largest type of expenditure for the EAÜ is staff costs, which totalled EUR 957,270 in 2023, i.e. 72.4% of total expenditure. Compared to the previous year, despite several large developments, software development costs have decreased slightly, amounting to EUR 109,167 in the financial year (EUR 140,520 in 2022). The EAÜ had four major software development projects underway, the longest and largest of which is the new author interface (to be completed in 2024). In addition, the digital signature function and the possibility to apply for licences electronically were developed for the website. The Common Royalty Distribution (CRD) file processing solution was developed for the distribution of royalties.

The expenses of the EAÜ did not exceed the money received as commission.

12. Report on the amounts deducted during the financial year for the provision of social, cultural and educational services

The EAÜ used the surplus commission received to support many projects important to Estonian music life, for which grants were distributed in two rounds.

The goal of the support programme is to encourage the creation of new Estonian music and to broaden the creative opportunities for composers, so that Estonian music life is enriched as a result. The programme is divided into three areas of support:

1. Support is provided for orders for new musical compositions, for which there is a definite and specific plan for performance, recording and/or distribution. The order must be placed by either a concert organiser (for example, in the case of a festival), a collective or a performer other than the author (since this is not a creative grant);
2. Support is provided for the creation of new musical works through a range of (co-) creative initiatives, e.g. the costs related to the organisation of or participation in residencies and co-creation camps (in Estonia and elsewhere) are partly covered;
3. Support is provided for the production and recording of musical compositions in both audio and video formats, provided that there is a specific release and distribution plan.

More detailed terms and conditions of the Creative Activities Programme can be found on the EAÜ website. In the reporting year, the grant applications were reviewed by an expert committee, who decided to award grants to 128 applicants in the amount of EUR 175,000 in both rounds in total. All the grant recipients and the amounts allocated to them can be found in the “Applications Granted” section of the EAÜ website.

The export project support measure created in cooperation with Music Estonia continued, granting 45 projects support in the total amount of EUR 41,375. All the grant recipients and the amounts allocated to them can be found in the “Export Fund Applications Granted” section of the EAÜ website.

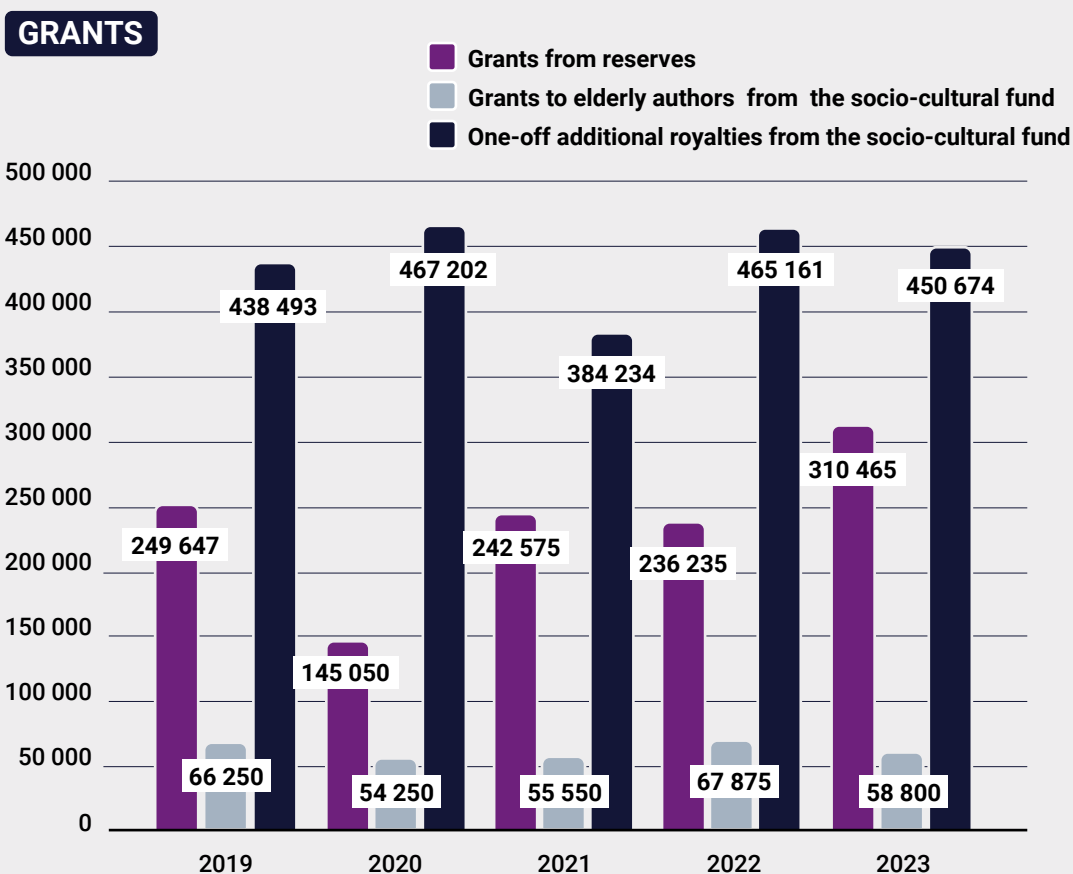

Direct grants were issued for several projects, such as the organisation of the Estonian Music Awards and the Estonian Music Business Gala. Traditionally, the EAÜ has also funded the annual award of the Estonian Theatre Association in the category of musical design for a spoken word production and original music with EUR 2,000. Direct grants were also awarded to the authors of the top six songs in the “Eesti Laul” competition: the authors of the winning song received EUR 5,000, second place EUR 2,500, third place EUR 1,000, and fourth, fifth and sixth places EUR 500 each. Also, the new song competition “Uus Laul”, named after Jaak Joala, was held for the first time and the EAÜ supported it with EUR 10,000.

In total, grants in the amount of EUR 310,465 were allocated from the 2023 reserves.

In 2023, the socio-cultural fund paid EUR 58,800 in grants to elderly authors and one-off additional royalties to 722 authors of musical works, totalling EUR 450,674.

13. Plans for 2024

In view of the possible economic downturn, it is important to be prepared for the knock-on effects this may have on areas of activity that concern the EAÜ. Therefore, the main objective of the EAÜ in 2024 is to maintain at least the same level of revenues as in previous years.

In the area of IT developments, the plan is to develop a solution for issuing licences in 2024 which includes the possibility of making payments in addition to signing. In addition, we want to create a convenient and secure way for users of works to submit financial reports. After a long period of development, we also want to go live with our new author portal.

Unfortunately, cooperation in the area of processing the TV, cinema and VOD reports of the EAÜ ended in 2023 at the request of the Performing Right Society (PRS) of the United Kingdom, so another solution for processing these reports must be found in 2024.

The plans for 2024 include the partial renovation of the office building of the EAÜ.

In addition to the above, the EAÜ needs to start thinking about its strategic goals for the next development period and to prepare a development plan for 2025–2030, from the perspective of both the EAÜ and the development of the field of music as a whole.
